

Jill Sneesby is an enthusiastic and successful travel and wildlife photographer. Much of her time is spent photographing in wild and exciting places, both close to home and anywhere across the globe.

Sharing her knowledge and expertise is another of her passions and she runs photographic workshops from her studio at home in Port Elizabeth and also travels worldwide to present workshops and lectures and to judge international events. Her judging credits include the prestigious photo contest HIPA in Dubai, the Emirates Photography Competition in Abu Dhabi, FIAP Nature Biennials in India, Al Thani Award in Austria and Qatar, China International Press Photo Contest and China International Photographic Art Exhibitions in various centres in China.

Jill has been honoured by many international photographic societies for both her expertise as a photographer and for the work she does looking after the interests of photographers and photography.

It is her continued commitment and willingness to work for the good of PSSA that make her a worthy candidate for election as a Director of PSSA.
