"Jump high" by Margot Scheepers from Hermies Photography Club

I am a scholar at Hermanus High School and are currently in Grade 12

Story of the image:

The photo was taken at my school's yearly colour sport athletics day. I was wondering around trying to decide where to take photos when I stumbled across the high jump mats. I tried taking photos of how people jumped over the pole towards me, but I wasn't getting the photos that I wished for, so I readjusted my angle in hopes of a better photo. I decided to stand at the point from where the athlete run and get a photo with the athlete as the full focus without a pole in the way. And that is how I got this stunning photo. Something that I love about this photo is that you can also see the spirit that is felt during such a day, by looking at everyone on the pavilion in the background, probably singing their hearts out.
