

HONOURS INFORMATION – 12 HONOURS LISTING

How to list your Honours after your name

After successfully applying for your Honours you may list the relevant Honour after your name as long as you remain a fully paid-up member of PSSA.

All successful applicants may apply for an Honours e-badge which can be used on personal websites, letterheads, accreditation applications etc. as long as you remain a full member of PSSA. Application must be made to membership@pssa.co.za

In order to identify members who have achieved their Honours in Audio Visual the letters AV- are to be added before the honour achieved.

The protocol for listing honours is that only the highest honour is listed and that it is only listed once, even if you have honours in multiple sections. If however a (Vers) or (Dux) is achieved it would also be listed.

As the DPSSA and EPSSA are awarded for salon acceptances they are listed in addition to the LPSSA, APSSA or FPSSA, once again however only the highest is listed.

The hierarchy for the listing of salon Honours is DPSSA, DPSSA(CIs), EPSSA, EPSSA(CIs), EPSSA(Mille), EPSSA(Premium) and EPSSA(Platinum).

As with the panel Honours the highest (Vers) achieved would also be listed.

As the SPSSA is awarded for Service it is listed in addition to any achievement Honour.

Honorary Honours are listed in addition to and before the achievement honours.

The relevant letters should be listed without punctuation and without any further detail.

Example 1:

A member who has achieved one LPSSA, two APSSA's and one FPSSA as well as an EPSSA should list their honours as FPSSA, EPSSA

If that same member had also achieved an APSSA(Vers) their honours should be listed as

FPSSA, EPSSA, APSSA(Vers)

Example 2:

If an AV-LPSSA is achieved in addition to an LPSSA then both should be listed. AV-LPSSA, LPSSA

If a member has an LPSSA in AV and an APSSA in digital or another medium then they would list their honours as APSSA, AV-LPSSA.

V2 301124

On being awarded your honours please check to ensure that the PSSA database has been updated to reflect them by checking in the PSSA Member Zone if they are not there please contact our Secretary at membership@pssa.co.za